

A note for Lacy Rushin

Prepared for Lacy Rushin, Simply Texas Real Estate, Frisco · September 12, 2026

WHO WE ARE

We are a small operational support studio. Real estate is not new to us, we built the website, content, and AI systems behind Real Cavalry, a San Antonio brokerage, ran a two-year marketing partnership with a Texas real estate investment firm, and built the email and CRM systems behind a real estate closing company. That is the same work we would bring here: the content, the follow-up, and the systems that keep a pipeline warm between closings.

WHAT WE NOTICED ABOUT LACY RUSHIN

You are already doing real things well:

- You named your specialisms properly instead of claiming everything: military and veterans, first responders, divorce, relocation, investors. Those are real situations with real anxieties, and saying so plainly is why the testimonials on your site sound like relief rather than praise.
- Those niches are also the ones where people search hardest before they call anybody, because the stakes and the rules are different each time.

Where we see the fastest room to grow:

- There is no blog and no dated content on the site. So the exact questions your specialisms attract, a VA loan question, what happens to the house in a divorce, a PCS move on a deadline, are being answered by somebody else's website.
- There is no email capture either. For a relocation or a military move, the gap between first search and first call is often months. Right now nothing holds that person.

WHAT WE WOULD DO FIRST

Write down the specialisms you already have. A small set of pages on VA loans, PCS timelines and the house in a divorce, with a signup underneath, would bring you exactly the people you are best with. This is the lane where content pays fastest, because nobody in it is browsing casually.

THE SIMPLEST NEXT STEP

A short call, no pitch deck required, just to see if this is a fit. You can also see exactly how we work, and the real estate systems we have already built, at balaynibruno.co/real-estate-agent-marketing.html.

RJ Bryan Tres Reyes

Founder, Balay ni Bruno & Co.