

Southern Domestic Diva: what we found, and how we would help

Prepared for your Media, Personal Brand & Monetization Manager opening · September 17, 2026 · Public checks of southerndomesticdiva.com

IN ONE PARAGRAPH

Southern Domestic Diva has real proof behind it: more than nine years of service in Southwest Mississippi and Nashville, with live chat and an email signup on the site. The gaps are measurement and discovery. We could not see any analytics or ad tracking in the page code, none of the 80 homepage images have alt text, and only three pages show up in a public search. A personal brand and partnership push needs those basics first, because brands ask for audience numbers.

WHAT IS ALREADY WORKING

- The WordPress site loads over HTTPS with live chat and an email signup.
- Structured data is present and the sitemap is referenced in robots.txt.
- The residential cleaning, careers and about pages appear in a public search of your domain.
- Facebook, Instagram and a LinkedIn company page are linked from the site.

FINDINGS BY RISK

Analytics	High	No Google Analytics, Tag Manager or Meta Pixel is visible in the homepage code. Brand partners and sponsors ask for audience and traffic numbers. Without analytics there is nothing to show them, and no way to see which content brings bookings.
Image alt text	Medium	80 of the 80 image tags on the homepage have no alt text. Alt text helps accessibility and image search. For a lifestyle brand, image search is a real way to be found.
Search visibility	Medium	A public search of your domain returned only three pages: residential cleaning, careers and about. Service area pages and founder content give search something to show when people look for Allie or cleaning in Nashville.
Homepage heading	Medium	The homepage H1 reads "Trendy Cleaning". It does not say who you are or where you work. The main heading is one of the first things search engines read.
Social channels	Low	The site links to Facebook, Instagram and LinkedIn, but not TikTok or YouTube. Both are in the role's platform list. Linking them helps visitors and partners find every channel.

WHAT WE WOULD DO FIRST

- Set up GA4 and the Meta Pixel so audience, traffic and bookings are measurable before the partnership push.
- Build a weekly content calendar across every brand and the founder's personal brand.
- Create Reels, Stories, graphics and a monthly newsletter in one consistent voice.
- Build a media kit and a partnership tracker, then research and pitch brand partners.
- Report monthly on growth, leads, partnerships and media opportunities.

A USEFUL WAY TO START

If you bring us on for this role, the first week includes a one page 30 day plan for Allie's personal brand and a first draft media kit outline, at no extra cost.

WHO WE ARE

Balay ni Bruno & Co. is a small operational support studio. You hire one person and get a team behind them: websites, email, social content, CRM automation and reporting that all speak with one voice.

- We run social content, including weekly Reels, plus email and paid ads for Freccia Construction, a custom builder in Austin, Texas.
- We run a creator outreach programme for a haircare brand, covering research, outreach and partnership follow up.
- RJ served as Marketing Director at Top Producer Investment Capital.

HOW WE CHECKED

Checked from the outside on September 17, 2026: homepage code and headings, tracking tags, robots.txt and sitemap, structured data, image alt text, linked social profiles, a public site search of your domain. We did not log in to anything and we have no access to your analytics or ad accounts, so anything below marked not checked is exactly that.

- Your social media insights and follower numbers.
- Southern Diva Living's own website, if it has one.
- Page speed scores, because Google's PageSpeed service did not respond during our check.
