

A note for Myke Leatham

Prepared for Myke Leatham, College Station Homes, Brazos County · September 14, 2026

WHO WE ARE

We are a small operational support studio. Real estate is not new to us, we built the website, content, and AI systems behind Real Cavalry, a San Antonio brokerage, ran a two-year marketing partnership with a Texas real estate investment firm, and built the email and CRM systems behind a real estate closing company. That is the same work we would bring here: the content, the follow-up, and the systems that keep a pipeline warm between closings.

WHAT WE NOTICED ABOUT MYKE LEATHAM

You are already doing real things well:

- The blog on collegestationhomes.com was genuinely local in a way almost no agent manages: city council meetings, the February freeze warnings, the Brazos Valley emergency preparedness fair. That is writing for neighbours, not for search engines, and it is exactly the kind people remember.
- The site positions you clearly as the resource for College Station and BCS real estate, with the buyer and seller guidance to back that up.

Where we see the fastest room to grow:

- The newest post on that blog is 13 October 2022. Nearly four years of silence from someone who clearly knows the community better than most, while every new arrival to Aggieland is searching the exact questions you used to answer.
- There is no email capture anywhere on the homepage. Somebody moving to College Station for a job or a Texas A&M posting starts looking months ahead, and right now there is no way to stay in touch with them until they are ready to call.

WHAT WE WOULD DO FIRST

Pick the community writing back up and put a simple signup underneath it. A monthly Brazos County note, the same kind of local, practical content the blog used to carry, would give every relocating family a reason to hear from you long before they choose an agent.

THE SIMPLEST NEXT STEP

A short call, no pitch deck required, just to see if this is a fit. You can also see exactly how we work, and the real estate systems we have already built, at balaynibruno.co/real-estate-agent-marketing.html.
